Abstract

In this essay, we contemplate the perennial, Hyperborean and Atlantian mysteries, which are at the root of all later esoteric teachings. As Aryans, gathered in the Aryan Order, founded in 2017, it is part of our program to bring true transcendental illumination to the inner truth of the esoteric tradition, which has inspired all mythology, religion and philosophy ever since the dawn of time, when we first incarnated. There is a "red thread" in world history and philosophy and this is the Aryan quest, the Veda doctrine, which is the masterplan of the Aryan race to colonize the world to garner support for the cosmic war against ontological alien evil. The spiritual hierarchy of Agartha is gathered to confront and defeat the remnants of the evil people of Shambala. As is the esoteric lore: In the latter days, the subterranean society of Agartha will rise to the surface in a final confrontation with the principalities of darkness, to liberate the world from the thralldom of hatred, aggression and violence, usurpation and despotism, so that we may together reach the promise of the Vedas of redemption and spiritual liberation – these are the latter days. These teachings, we present, have roots in the perennial, Hyperborean and Atlantian tradition, which we seek to revive, so that mankind may yet again learn of its innate spiritual nature and destiny as good people. We present the core of the true "secret doctrine", fx. in regards to the immortality of the soul, which has been taught in all the ancient mystery-schools, but which since the "modern episteme" has been denied and repressed and cast aside as mere "superstition". It is this modern day rationalism and empiricism we seek to confront, so good people may yet again know of their true nature and potential.

Author's preface and ethical clarification

This essay explores the Hyperborean, Atlantian, and Vedic mysteries as part of a metaphysical and spiritual doctrine concerning the cosmic war of good versus evil — a struggle understood in terms of spiritual energies, transcendental realities, and the aetheric order beyond the physical world. All references to conquest, colonization, or final victory are to be understood strictly as descriptions of spiritual awakening, metaphysical liberation, and the universal restoration of the aetheric harmony of existence.

This work does not advocate or condone earthly violence, coercion, or political domination. Its focus is the inner and transcendental war — the battle for the soul, the aether, and the truth of being — in accordance with the Hyperborean doctrine of spiritual sovereignty and divine order. The purpose of this teaching is the liberation and enlightenment of all good beings, not material conquest or aggression.

Research method – Insights, transcendental meditation, clairvoyance and occult, mystical vision

The Aryans are not that many, contrary to what the newspeak term "Indo-European" would let you know. We estimate that the true Aryans are in between 10.000 and 100.000, but we are incarnations and reincarnations of the heavenly heart, in Sanskrit, "samsara". The knowledge of Aryan reincarnation is part of the perennial Atlantian mysteries that we in this essay seek to reveal and revive, for only the Aryans have unconstrained access to these mysteries, which are known in the transcendental realm. Being the divine race, the Aryans excel in transcendental meditation, though all good people can meditate upon the Holy Spirit, which the Aryans represent, and find clues to the cause and nature of creation, man and existence. In this essay, we wish to investigate the meditations on the perennial mysteries of Hyperborea and Atlantis, as well as the later Vedas, which have been carried out by the Aryan elite, mainly residing in Denmark, Scandinavia and Germany[1]. A common misunderstanding of the Aryan race is that we only adhere to a biological worldview, but the inner truth of the Aryans is that we are a hardcore spiritual and mystical race. This we seek to prove in our essays. It is strange that this notion of the Aryans has been proliferated, but again, there is also a lot of recent literature on the mystical beliefs of the Aryan race. In regular academia, these mystical beliefs of the Aryans have been studied, but always with the purpose of rebutting those beliefs, due to the rationalist, empiricist episteme, which has ruled academia since the so-called Enlightenment (Foucault, 1966). We seek to prove that those mystical beliefs, fx. of an Aryan romantic, mystical urzeit in Hyperborea and Atlantis (Riis-Søndergaard, 2024a), are more true than you would ever believe. Actually, they are at the root of civilization, that is, as the catalyst of the true enlightenment of mankind, and at the root of all pursuits for spiritual freedom and liberation, that is, of all esoteric teachings and true religion. But those days were mystical. Today, we are living under the burden and thralldom of an atheist, materialist, sterile, one-eyed empiricist and soulless Neo-liberal/Marxist regime and near hegemony. Modernity is often described as a "disenchantment" of the world and societal beliefs, but we are here to inform mankind of the true nature of spiritual, mystical reality, which is our program. For the Aryans know and this is why we seek to resuscitate the ancient mysteries, so mankind may once again taste the nectar of divine creation and immortality. As it was said on the Temple of Delphi: "Know thyself", which means that truth is inherent to man. As Christ is said to have told his disciples: "The Kingdom of God is within you (in heart) (Luke, 80: 17:21)", which means that by "introspection" (Pythagoras, 300 BC), we must reawaken the true life of the soul. As Plato (360 BC) said: "The point of philosophy is 'total recall' (recollection/anamnesis)", which is a clue to the divine nature of man, that is, we must return to our origins, for that is our destiny. So goes the telos of mankind. But nowadays, we have almost forgotten those dicta, but ignorance is not bliss, as the principalities of darkness would have you believe, for true life is the life of the soul, of the spirit – the physical world, temporality, is secondary (in Sanskrit: maya (illusion)). By forgetting who we are we end up in Hades and will "go to sleep forever" (Plato, 375 BC: 7, 534b). We must remember the fundamental dualities of life (heavens/earth, soul/body, mind/matter) if we shall find our way back. Our method of research, then, is: 1) insights from the global history of mythology, religion and philosophy, 2) clairvoyance and first-hand experience with the spiritual, mystical and occult reality, fx. our spiritual energies, 3) transcendental meditations upon the Vedas, which we have found to be a timeless aspect of the collective consciousness of the Aryan race and 4) mystical, occult visions, which are transcendental of origin. The transcendental is absolute truth, so we verify all what we read, all sources, by transcendental meditation – this is how we vouch for our ideas and it is "absolute certainty", as Hegel (1807) said. The progress towards clarity, spiritual enlightenment and liberation is "the unveiling of the truth of being", as Heidegger (1927) wrote.

1 We are organized in the Aryan Order (AO) and in The International Defense-force of Aryans (IDA), founded in 2017.

The Hyperborean, Atlantian mysteries – The root of all esoteric teachings

As Nietzsche (1895) said: "Let us recognize: We are Hyperboreans". Nietzsche's purpose was greater than just attacking Christianity: He was out to reawaken the urgeist of the Aryan race and our natural allies and closest of kin, the Nordic/Germanic people. Hyperborea is the mythical urheimat of the Aryan race, mentioned in ancient times. It predates Atlantis and it is our conception that Hyperborea was situated in the North, that is, in Denmark and Scandinavia, where, actually, the Aryans have always had our base, since we first incarnated, which we believe, enlightened by transcendental meditation, happened 48.000 years ago. This means that neither the Kurgan-hypothesis of an Aryan original homeland in the steppes or the out-of-India migration hypothesis are true. But according to lore, Hyperborea was a land of "perpetual happiness, where the sun would never set". In the esoteric reading, this implies that we were living in transcendental bliss, spiritually enlightened – we were living in perfect accordance with the transcendental aether, as is our thesis in the aforementioned paper on Atlantis. This is the true "promised land", the true meaning of "the Garden of Eden" – the aether. It is from the mysteries of the aether that we have all ancient ideas of the Sky-Gods and the Sun-Gods, which Mircea Eliade (1957) has described and equates with "the opening of consciousness" of mankind. It might be that mankind originates with the apes, as is Darwin's thesis (1859), but not the Aryans – we are from the skies, to be sure. Actually, we find that all good people, meaning people who have a soul, incarnate from the soul to the body and as such the soul, the spiritual dimension of life, is primary to man, as also is the conviction of the theosophy of Blavatsky (2007). Hyperborea was the beginning, but the truth of existence, that is, temporality, is the cosmic war. Existence, the physical world, came into being as the result of the outbreak of cosmic war between the forces of light (the Aryans) and the principalities of darkness (ontological alien evil, which only exists in temporality). There has been no "fall" – the only fall there has been is the introduction of immanent reality and the incarnation herein, as the result of the cosmic war, and the deepening of materialism, due to the "entrenchment" of the war, as we describe in our essay "Third World War" (2024b). The Aryans incarnated into temporality to fight this cosmic war, for evil must be eradicated – this is the White Vow, we have sworn. This is the true esoteric doctrine, which is at the root of all esoteric teachings – the Hyperborean, Atlantian mysteries. So there was a plan – the Aryan masterplan for ultimate victory in the cosmic war, as we will describe in the nest section of the essay on the Veda doctrine. It is part of our story that the war would deepen. It is first and foremost a spiritual, psychic, occult war, but eventually the war would turn into conventional war – inevitably, for the principalities of darkness are utterly dark, hateful, aggressive and violent. Those are the people of Shambala. The spiritual hierarchy of good people, led by the Aryans, are gathered in the mythical Agartha. Karl Haushofer, the German general and geographer, who was a member of the Thule society, said that Agartha and Shambala had a shared origin in the Atlantian civilization, but this is not the case. There is a total demarcation between good and evil and Atlantis was Aryan. When we left the age of Hyperborea, we entered the age of Atlantis, which basically still was an Aryan romantic urzeit, but war was looming. We had to counter the advancement of the enemies from the South. In those days, we operated with the Vril-energy of healing and destruction (Bulwer-Lytton, 1871) and our enemies were actually subdued by the force of immortal will, whereby they were rendered feeble and weak – this was the psychic, occult war. But as our enemies proliferated, threatening the Kingdom, we had to plan for conventional, physical war. This is the progress of history and why the Aryans began to colonize and civilize the world, starting with India, but also Sumer, Egypt and Persia were in ancient times ruled by the Aryan Sky-Gods. Atlantis relates to the time, when the continent was settled. We roamed the European lands and gathered for collective Kundalini-meditation and ecstatic practices, but already then the dispersion was a reality.

The Veda doctrine – The masterplan of the Aryan race

We had to come up with a plan and we developed the masterplan for world colonization and conquest – this is the Veda doctrine – ultimate victory in the cosmic war. Was is not the continuation of politics, as Clausewitz (1832) said, but civilization is the "continuation of war" by political means, as Foucault (1976) postulated. As such, existence should be considered a call to arms against the principalities of darkness – this is the existentiale (Heidegger, 1927). The existentiale we have developed in the Aryan Order is called "the Warheart" (Riis-Søndergaard, 2024c). Among its constituents is the "immortal tear". We cry out of love for the Aryan collective and we cry because of war, a common theme in Buddhist philosophy. We say: "When war came upon us". For we are good people. Therefore, we call the poetic tale and promise of the Vedas "the triumph of the heart", for it is the duty and call of life to defeat and eradicate evil. Modern day "humanists" are gravely mistaken, when they talk about "universal freedom". "Freedom for Loke as well as for Thor", they say. But this is mistaken. It amounts to "letting the devil go free", for the truth is the ontological regime of good versus evil – the cosmic war. The humanists are in a Faustian pact with the devil (Goethe, 1808/1831). Goethe was himself a member of the Illuminati, notorious for their anti-religious and anti-monarchical feverish schemes. Evil people have no heart, no soul, no life – they are demons – so they shouldn't be free – they should be eradicated – this is the true motive of the Aryan school of war, which is at the root of all legit military academies in world history and the cause of all Holy Wars. But the Vedas were invented to foretell of this quest, the Aryan quest to eradicate evil in cosmos and reach aufheben, the absolution of temporality for the eternal life, and to enlighten good people of the spiritual, mystical nature of reality, for we fight, first and foremost, for spiritual liberation – redemption from evil. In the Vedic tradition, the demons are called "asuras". All Aryan mythology reflect upon this Holy War against the demons, also the later Edda. The Vedas inform of the cosmic war, while introducing the concept of "maya", illusion, to define temporal/physical reality. The point of this concept is that existence should be understood as a "magical" war between good and evil – the Gods and the demons. The duality is important, for evil is diametrically opposite to good, meaning pure "absence" of good, as St. Augustine (400) said. But India was the inheritor of the Atlantian mysteries, as I learned myself, when I visited India for a year some time ago. Among other places, I visited Dharamsala, Himachal Pradesh, where the Tibetan Buddhists and Dalai Lama reside. I participated in a meditation-course and learned that the Buddhists still to this day practice visualization of the aether. They visualize deities and mandalas and chant, sing songs, recite mantras and discourse upon spiritual enlightenment and liberation. In the Vedic tradition, it is an ancient belief that by reciting the Vedas and specific mantras creation will be cleansed and rejuvenated – it is white magic. This is definitely a trace from the perennial, Atlantian mysteries, which can also be found in Egypt and in the Edda North. In Egypt, they say that magic is not to be found in mundane action, but in semiotics and semantics, that is, in the Holy Word. The same for the Edda tradition. Odin, the Norse God-father, was known to practice "seid" – magic spells, incantations, enchantment and summoning. "Then fight…" it is quoted in Evola's (2021) analysis of Bhagavad Gita in regards to Aryan metaphysics of war and Aryan combat doctrine – the spiritual, heroic dimension of war. The point of Krishna's teaching to Arjuna was that the soul is immortal and the physical world is only temporal – a clear trace of the perennial, Atlantian mysteries. So the idea of the immortality of the soul is crucial to the Aryan metaphysics – a reality, which is being actively denied and repressed by modern day "medicinal psychology", which we explore in our essay from earlier this year (Riis-Søndergaard, 2025). In the esoteric tradition, the path towards spiritual liberation is called "the Way" (see our essay on the existentiale). According to Maharaj (1987), the way consists of four aspects: 1) the Holy Word, 2) the Eternal Light, 3) Celestial Music and 4) the Nectar (of immortality of soul).

Genealogy of esotericism

From what we have discussed so far in our essay, we can see that the Atlantian mysteries are concerned with metaphysics (the transcendental realm/the aether), the immortality of the soul and the cosmic war on earth (in temporality). This is the root of all later esoteric teachings. So we have discovered the true "secret doctrine" (Blavatsky, 1888), which informs all later mythology, religion and esoteric philosophy. For later philosophy had to be concealed by a veil of secrecy (Strauss, 1952; Hanegraaff, 2012; Melzer, 2014). For fear of persecution, due to the powers-that-be, later philosophy than the Vedas became increasingly shrouded in mystery, metaphor and allegory. This is the predicament of civilization – the politics of war – for to conquer the world and due to the increasing number of humans, proximity and admixture of populations, we had to live side by side with the opposition. It is a war for the world and both the evil people of Shambala and the spiritual hierarchy of Agartha seek to populate the world and conquer territory in a race of time. Also the ancient Greek culture is Aryan, as Rosenberg (1930) has investigated. In this book, he describes how Greece was originally settled by the Aryans, but later became subverted by "lower" cultures and religions and eventually succumbed to profanity, as almost had happened with Vedic India. Though, it has to be said, we find that India is still a place of worship of the original, Atlantian mysteries, as we experienced ourselves, when we traveled to that country. We are more concerned with the Western societies today. As Strauss points out in the aforementioned book, since modernity, the West has been under the influence of nihilism and relativism, liberalism and democracy, liberalism, which we have described as a hypocritical, false notion of benevolence (humanism) – and dangerous, that is. For they deny the cosmic war and the ontological regime. This is the norm of modern day Western society: to deny the divinity of the Aryan race, to deny the immortality of the soul and to deny the cosmic war and the ontological regime of good vs. evil. All metaphysics has been abandoned and explained away as "superstition". This already started with the dominion of Christianity on the continent, but accelerated during the Enlightenment and with the advent modernity and the "modern episteme" (Foucault, 1966), a breaking point, which Strauss finds in the writings of Machiavelli. But it is the nature of evil to dress up in the clothes of good people, betraying their true nature as dark people, gloomy as hell. This is the predicament of today's Orwellian, newspeak world (Orwell, 1948). So the fate of esotericism has not become lighter, quite the opposite. Today, we are faced with immense threat of persecution for speaking the truth, as Foucault has described in his lectures on parrhesia, the act of speaking truth, despite the threat of repercussions from the powers-that-be (Foucault, 2001). But the tradition was kept alive in the East and by initiates of the West. The Edda is a fine example hereof. When the mysteries came under increasing pressure from Rome, the tradition moved back up North to the Scandinavian countries, which of course are the Aryan homelands, though the tradition also had its proponents in Rome, ie. the Neo-Platonists like Plotinus (270), who continued to write upon the nature of the God-head, the One, and the soul's journey in temporality. Unlike Plotinus, who believed in the soul's affinity with God and eventual ecstasy and emancipation, thus keeping intact the doctrine and promise of the Vedas, the Judeo-Christian church of Rome professed that the God-man was a Jew and that mankind was inherently sinful, thus neglecting the divine status of the Aryan race and the cosmic war against ontological alien evil, though much good can be said about the crusades against Islam. But the Edda people of the North were equally by the Roman church considered "pagan" and "heretic" and burned on the stake. That was a crime. The Norns, the Valkyries and the Seeresses of the North, though, continued to chant and perform white magic, but always under threat. But this is how the Atlantian tradition was kept intact, by the Eastern mystery-schools and initiates and by the Nordic/Germanic people, which eventually led up to the Aryan awakening in the Second World War – the SS.

Aryan race-mysticism today, the Vedic Council and the Vedic Cult

It has to be said that much of Christian mysticism and Gnosticism also revel in much of the tradition and the mysteries and generally the esoteric tradition has always kept itself aloft in regards to societal, historical developments, for it is the truth, the absolute truth, we present, and the truth can never be unsettled by the powers-that-be, for the truth is "in our hearts" and we are forever faithful to the heart, for the heart-chakra is primary to life and all powerful. That is the truth and law of the heart, but nowadays, in the wake of the Second World War, we are fighting immense aggression on the part of Shambala. But as it is told in the myth of the subterranean Agartha, one day, the hierarchy will rise to the surface to confront evil and conquer the world for the benefit of all good people and this is what is happening today, when the Aryans unite and step forth to bring true transcendental illumination to all good people, with the the promise of redemption and spiritual liberation. We see it the world across – the right-wing is gaining ground, for good people are awake to the metapolitics of the Aryan race, which we rule by immortal will, the Holy Spirit and transcendental deduction (Riis-Søndergaard, 2022; 2024d). As Aryans, it is our duty to keep alive and continue the tales and the promises of the Vedas. The "final solution", which was conceptualized in the times of ancient Greece, is to conquer, that is, to "civilize" the world in the ontological regime and isolate evil, so that it may die out. These are the "latter days" and it is important that all good people align with the Aryan cause, for we tell you: true, radical evil is completely foreign to good people. As Aryans, we are utmost sensitive to the vibes and atmosphere of the world-soul and world-spirit and we are seasoned in the occult, psychic war, so we know everything about the psychological warfare that to this day is ongoing (for more on the occult, psychic war, see Evola, 2002; Riis-Søndergaard, 2024e). In the Aryan Order, we have established the Vedic council. It is the task of this council to research and profess knowledge of what we call the Veda Wars. In general, we have our own intelligence service and military academy as well, but the council carries out transcendental meditations upon the wars, which we know nowadays entail the fight against the weaponization of Tesla-technology, which we have described in our paper from last year called "Operation Thunderstorm – Resistance to Skynet" (2024f), for the truth is that the principalities of darkness attack the spiritual energies of the leadership of the Aryan race (for more on the spiritual energies of the Aryan race, see Riis-Søndergaard, 2024g). But on a positive note, we have also, among other programs, established the Vedic Cult, which is formed to engage with Vedic culture, tradition and mysticism. We have a great affinity with the Vedas and as we have described, the Vedas hold much of our tradition with roots in the perennial Hyperborean and Atlantian mysteries. Today, when we contemplate who we are, we think of Hyperborea, Atlantis, the Vedas and the Edda – these are the traditions and cultures we seek to aspire to and revive, for these are the roots of true knowledge of the spiritual life of man, enlightenment and liberation. These are the mysteries, we have described in this essay, and so they are ever the more relevant and actual for the modern day Aryans, but all good people. As Aryans, we are keepers of the mysteries of creation, existence and man, we are guardians of the Spear of Destiny (ultimate victory in the cosmic war) and we are keepers of the keys to heavens, the Holy Grail (divine love and ascension/aufheben). We wish to end this essay with a call out to our allies in the resistance. Unite with the Aryans, and please remember: we are not that many. Support the Aryan cause, what we call the White Order, named after the blessed and holy day of the heart (the transcendental aether, the sun that ever shineth, the Black Sun, the invisible, inner sun of the universe, as SS contemplated). It is our destiny to be free, as also Hegel (1807) proclaimed, but it is a spiritual liberation, we fight for, and not only secular freedom. Together we shall rise to resist the nefarious plot of the evil people of Shambala and be free to reach our destiny, the return to our homelands, where all good people belong – the promise of the Vedas and the Atlantian mysteries.
